History

Beaumaris on the island of Anglesey is famous as the greatest castle never built. It was the last of the royal strongholds created by Edward I in Wales – and perhaps his masterpiece. Beaumaris Castle was never fully built, but had it been completed it would probably have closely resembled Harlech Castle. Both castles are concentric in plan, with walls within walls, although Beaumaris is the more regular in design.

Hanes

Mae Castell Biwmaris ar ynys Sir Fôn yn enwog fel y castell gorau a chafodd fyth ei adeiladu. Hwn oedd yr olaf o'r cadarnleoedd brenhinol a grêwyd gan Edward y 1af yng Nghymru – ac efallai ei gampwaith. Cafodd Castell Biwmaris byth ei orffen, ond petai y gwaith adeiladu wedi ei orffen fyddai'n debyg iawn i Gastell Harlech. Mae'r ddau gastell yn ganolbwyntiol eu cynllun, gyda waliau o fewn waliau, er mai Biwmaris yw'r mwyaf rheolaidd o ran dyluniad.
